ROTARY ROADSHOW

The Tri-State Warbird Museum was formed in 2003 with a commitment to preserve the aircraft of World War II, educate their visitors on America's role in WWII, and to honor the veterans who fought and those who made the ultimate sacrifice. Since that time over 1.5 Million people have toured the facility and/or seen their restored aircraft gracing the skies at airshows around the country.

Come join us as we visit the museum and view their nine significant WWII aircraft. We'll have personal tours of the facility and Paul Redlich, the President of Tri-State Warbird Museum, will address our group. Paul is a licensed and accomplished pilot with over 3700 hours of warbird flight time. In addition Paul has over 35 years of experience restoring and maintaining World War II aircraft as an FAA certified mechanic and inspector.

The fee listed below includes a one-year membership to the museum and a box lunch of your choice
